

Citing an E-Book

Note: Since the page numbers of an e-book can vary across e-reader, text preferences, and other factors, you should not include a page number. This is because a consistent page number does not exist. You can include section numbers (sec., secs.) or chapter numbers (ch., chs.) instead, if they exist and you feel it would be helpful.

E-Book Citation Structure:

Last, First M. Book Title. E-book ed., Publisher, year of publication. Name of e-reader device.

E-Book Citation Example:

Stoker, Bram. Dracula. E-book ed., Dover Publications, 2000. Kindle.
