

Verb placement: Middle English

adverbs

also, they that withdrawen falsly the rightes that longen to hooly chirche (CTPARS,315)

Hester, by hir good conseil enhaunced greetly the peple of God in the regne of Assuerus the kyng. (CTMELI,221.C2.162)

for þe Danois comen ofte wip here companies into þis lande. (BRUT3,111.3376)

Men of werre seyon comynly þat þei fyȝton for charite, (WYCSER,I,521.3699)

Of þis gospel may we wyten how þe furste spice of pruyde þat is ypocrisye enuenymuth greetly þe chyrche (WYCSER,264.687)

Also þat ȝere kyng Egfridus destroyed wrecchedly þe men of Scotland, (POLYCH,VI,149.1048)

Verb placement: Middle English

all

þai criden al wip an hye voice (BRUT3,86.2610)

by þat worde þai wiste alle þat it was he him-self.
(BRUT3,107.3226)

& þei gon all bare fote & clothed in euyll garnementes
(MANDEV,101.2470)

for we comen alle of Adam and Eue, (WYCSER,273.847)

ȝif þe blynde lede þe blynde þei fallen boþe in þe dyȝk.
(WYCSER,I,239.288)

And tai felle bape dede downe. (BENRUL,37.1203)

Verb placement: Middle English

never

And though that Salomon seith that he ne foond nevere womman good, it folweth nat therfore that alle wommen ben wikke. (CTMELI,220.C2.137)

ne ye, ne noon oother, seyn nevere the contrarie
(CTMELI,235.C2.717)

& men wiste neuer where he bicom; (BRUT3,94.2874)

And þei seye also þat oure lord ne eet neuere mete but he made tokene of etyng. (MANDEV,12.257)

and þus more ioye is in heuene of þis o schep þan of neyne ordres of angeles þat neden no penaunce for þey synned neuere. (WYCSER,234.204)

or who openyde hise iȝen, we witen nere (NTEST,IX,20)

Verb placement: Middle English

not

And though that Salomon seith that he ne foond nevere womman good, it folweth nat therfore that alle wommen ben wikke. (CTMELI,220.C2.137)

But he ne lefte nat [...] to visite the ferreste in his parrisshe (CTPrologue, 492)

And nopelesse þe trewes durede nouȝt longe, (BRUT3,111.3379)

Þanne Aluredus, ȝever of almesse and herere of masses, souȝte besiliche lore of arte and of craftes þat he knewe nouȝt, (POLYCH,VI,359.2624)

And þei seye þat wee synne dedly in etynge of bestes þat weren forboden in the olde testament & of the olde lawe as swyn hares & opere bestes þat chewen not here code. (MANDEV,13.260)

Verb placement: Middle English

wh- questions

"Why speke ȝe so of þe myrth þat is in Heuyn;" (KEMPE,11.209)

"Mary, why wepyst þu?" (KEMPE,75.1686)

where dwellist thou? (NTEST,I,20.81)

Why comaunded God to yow ye sholde nat eten of every tree in Paradys?" (CTPARS,296)

'Fayre knyght, why smote ye downe my shyld?'
(MALORY,37.1195)

Bute for al þat swete Ihesu suffrede, he seide neuere,
"whi do ȝe so?" (EDVERN,255.640)